

If you could build a financial institution from the ground up, what would you include?

Forget the concrete and steel for now. How about building your perfect financial institution on a solid base of local ownership. Better yet, you'd be one of the owners. You'd have no stockholders to impress. Instead, your financial institution would operate on a not-for-profit basis with the sole purpose of serving the needs of your community and the people who live there. And it would be dedicated to the achievement of the financial goals of Main Street, not Wall Street. Friends and people with whom you work would volunteer time to serve on the Board Of Directors. Sound impossible? It's already been done. It's called a credit union. More specifically, it's called University Federal Credit Union.

As Austin's largest locally-owned financial institution, UFCU serves more than 90,000 member-owners. If you're not one of them, we invite you to join UFCU, which for 67 years has proudly served the University community and called Austin home.

Membership at UFCU is open to:

- The Entire University Community
- Austin Chapter, Texas Exes
- Longhorn Foundation Members
- More than 100 Leading Area Companies
